Dear Friends.

I wish I could find a better word than friends to express my love and appreciation for the support you have given me, SEED, and our Nar Sarah Clinic. A major milestone was reached this year with the opening of the Christensen Medical Building. Nar Sarah started five years ago in a small two room temporary facility with two part time people. Within two years Nar Sarah moved into a borrowed but larger three room building offered by the Women Against Poverty, a key partner of the Clinic. The new building has eight rooms for use by five full time staff to see 40 to 50 patients a day. Significantly and appropriately a baby was born during the grand opening ceremonies. Two programs stand out as being successful. The feeding program for children with malnutrition was able to save many children and provided education for the mothers. The care for expectant mothers including pre-natal care, birthing, and post natal care is the original basis for Nar Sarah and continues to grow and gain in reputation.

As part of the SEED community development initiative, in partnership with the Women Against Poverty, we continue to expand the introduction of canning so the people have food during the hungry season. This year, also as part of the community development program, we started the Creative Arts Initiative, a two week program, to improve the self image and self esteem of young girls. This is important as the culture is only now recognizing the reasons for girls to be educated. For older women we have an adult literacy program where 20 women are learning to read and write.

With success comes new challenges. Our patient load continues to grow and the demand for medicines and staff is growing. We continue to need your support to help perhaps the poorest people in the world.

I thank God for you.

Dorcas
